DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to because: lines, numbers and letters are not uniformly thick and well defined; and numbers and reference characters are not plain and legible for figure 11.
3. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. It is unclear as to which mechanism would cause each part in the upper body unit and the lower body unit to “rollably moving in a top and bottom direction with respect to the head to toe direction of the laid user; “rollably moving in a slanted direction with respect to the laid user”; and “rollably moving in an arcuate direction with respect to the laid user”.

6. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

7. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is unclear how “a second mechanical system connected to the second motor and another selected member of the rolling body support unit to translate the rotational motion of the first (?) motor into the up and down movements of the selected member”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claim 1, as best understood, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nelson (4,890,604). Nelson discloses an apparatus (fig. 7), comprising: a base plate 122 (fig. 7); a rolling body support unit 144 (fig. 7) rollably connected to the surface of the base plate to accommodate a user lying with his back on the rolling body support unit, wherein the rolling body support unit 144 comprises: an upper body unit having a plurality of head and backbone supporting members 145/146 (fig. 7) connected to each other by suitable means (col. 6, lines 48-52) and having a plurality of wheels 153 contacting the base plate 122 (fig. 7-8), the upper body unit capable of receiving the head and the back of the user; and a lower body unit 147/148 (fig. 7) capable of receiving the hip and the legs and having a plurality of wheels 153 contacting the base plate 122 (fig. 7-8), wherein each part in the upper body unit and the lower body unit is movable in at least one of the directions including: rollably moving in a top and bottom direction with respect to the head to toe direction of the laid user (fig. 7, col. 6, lines 56-58). Nelson discloses that the supporting members 145/146 (fig. 7) are connected to each other by suitable means but does not explicitly disclose the connecting means being an elastic member. However, Official notice is taken that it is well known in the art to use elastic member for providing connecting two structures together. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to include an elastic strap as a suitable connecting means in order to interconnect the supporting members together.

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claim 3 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

11. Claims 2 and 4-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Schaeffer discloses an automated therapy table. Goebel discloses a therapeutic device for treating paravertebrae.
